

CHILD PROTECTION

POLICY

This is a policy of Adventist Schools Tasmanian (Ltd)

Rationale:

All children have a right to feel and be emotionally and physically safe. As school staff, we have a legal and moral responsibility to respond to serious incidences involving abuse and neglect of the children with whom we have contact, and to report instances that we believe involve physical abuse or neglect. Children can't properly develop and flourish without being in an environment free of abuse and anxiety. It is recognised that Child Protection is a Community Responsibility.

The safety, protection and well-being of all students is of fundamental importance to the School. Both you and the School have a range of different obligations relating to the safety, protection and welfare of students including:

1. a duty of care to ensure that reasonable steps are taken to prevent harm to students;
2. obligations under child protection legislation; and
3. obligations under work health and safety legislation.

Aims:

This policy aims to:

1. ensure that children's' rights to be safe are maintained and each child is protected against abuse and neglect.
2. summarise the obligations imposed by child protection legislation on the School and on employees, contractors and volunteers at the School and to provide guidelines as to how the School will deal with certain matters.

Terminology:

Term	Definition

Key Legislation:

1. Children, Young Persons and their Families Act 1997 (Tas.) The Act details the role of Child Safety Services in protecting children and young people who are at risk of abuse or neglect.
2. Children, Young Persons and their Families Amendment Act 2009 (Tas.) Fifteen amendments to the original Act, listing responsibilities to prevent abuse or neglect or certain behaviour.

3. Children, Young Persons and their Families Amendment Act 2013 (Tas.) The Act is strongly based on the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child and reflect the view that all efforts should be directed towards accurately balancing assessment of safety and risk with strengthening positive aspects in the individual, family and community systems. The object of the Act (Section 7) is to provide for the care and protection of children in a manner that maximizes a child's best interests.
4. Registration to Work with Vulnerable People Act 2013. The Act provides for the overarching legislative and administrative arrangements to support a centralized screening process in Tasmania. This centralized screening system provides rigour and consistency across Tasmania to employees and volunteers working with vulnerable people (children under 18 and or adults with disabilities) and offers them the capacity for a fair and transparent review of decisions.
5. Registration to Work with Vulnerable People Amendment Act 2015. Amendments, clarification of definitions and inserted information (eg: reportable behaviour) to the Act 2013.
6. The Family Violence Act 2004 (Tas.) The Act was a new approach to family violence, to focus on the safety, psychological wellbeing, and interests of people affected by family violence. The Act outlines the definition of family violence, gives the definition to the power of police and offers offenders' programs.
7. Family Law Act 1975 (Cth) The Commonwealth Act relates to marriage, divorce, matrimonial causes in relation to parental responsibilities for children.

Compliance Statement:

As part of the Constitution of each Schools' Company there is an imperative to comply with policy developed by SPD and ASA. At present the relevant SPD policy is ADM.20.45 Child Protection and the relevant ASA documents are "A National Framework for Creating Safe Communities for Children, Adventist Schools Australia" and "Adventist Schools Australia, Child Protection Policy".

The National Framework for Creating Safe Communities for Children sets out a number of imperatives that seeks better practice in Child Protection for School communities. The Child Protection Policy addresses these imperatives.
